

MEMORIAL DAY

At Fairview, Friday June 3, 1910.

Occasion to Commemorate 102nd Anniversary of Jefferson Davis.

Friday, June 3rd, 1910, is set aside as Memorial Day, to commemorate 102d Anniversary of Jefferson Davis, the first and only President of the Confederacy. This day will be appropriately celebrated at Fairview, Ky., the birthplace of this great man.

Col. Bennett H. Young will deliver the principal address. Capt. W. J. Stone will deliver the evening address.

Among the guests expected to be present are Mrs. Virginia McSherry, President U. D. C.; Mrs. L. Mc F. Blakemore, President Kentucky U. D. C.; Mrs. Charles Duke, President Hopkinsville Chapter, U. D. C.; Col. S. A. Cunningham, Capt. W. B. Riley, Commander Nat Gaither.

The parade will take place at 10:00 a. m.

The grounds will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. A brass band of 17 pieces, will render the music.

Barbecued dinner will be served to those who present tickets. Tickets, 25 cts.

Dinner tickets will be for sale at Anderson-Fowler's drug store, at Hopkinsville; R. R. Wood's drug store, at Pembroke; Weathers' drug store at Elkton; Fairview drug store, at Fairview; Jones & Son, at Afton; Gulliam's, at Britmark and Harned Bros; at Honey Grove.

Important—If you wish to procure dinner and to be sure about it, be sure to buy your tickets at once, as the preparation for the dinner will be governed by the number of tickets sold. There will be refreshments of all kinds for sale that day. In fact the Fairview Commercial Club will leave nothing undone in entertaining the visitors of the day. Come out that day and let us make the day most enjoyable.

Respectfully,

R. F. Vaughan, Chairman.

J. R. Wiles.

J. W. Layne.

Committee on Entertainment,
Fairview Commercial Club.

Case Settled.

The case of S. A. Pate vs. the city of Hopkinsville, growing out of the sale of a horse by Mr. Pate to the city, has been dismissed, settled.

Matters For Attention In The Spring.

Spring is the best time of the year to put in Tiled Hearths and Facings, Cabinet Mantels and Radiant Grates. It is nice to do this just before house cleaning.

In the fall when you need this kind of work done before you can start into the winter satisfactorily, it is of course impossible to get such work done. Take time by the forelock and do it now. We carry a beautiful line of Cabinet Mantels and Tiles and invite inspection.

Spring is the time of the year when everything is putting on a new coat, let the house have one also. There is nothing that adds to the appearance of the place or the preservation of the house as good, well selected paint. Sherwin-Williams is the best. It has been sold here for 30 years. We have Sherwin-Williams Paint in every color, we also have White Lead and Linseed Oil with every color to mix it with.

INNOCENCE ABROAD.

Mr. Editor:

A fellow that doesn't often get away from home is usually very full of what he sees when abroad, and wants to tell all about it when he gets back. There's where the newspaper man becomes a martyr, for he usually has to print the stuff gratis. Oh yes the editor will have some stars in his crown of course.

Well I was gone three days. First and foremost, I saw the Derby.

Spent the five for a new hat that was intended to be put up on the race. Should have been a derby hat but it wasn't.

Was surprised upon arriving at Churchill downs to see how many people had taken a notion to come the same day I did, for my attendance that day had not been announced.

The size of the crowd reminded me of an old time Christian County Fair and then some.

In common with all the other boys from Hopkinsville was glad to see the grand-son of Williams & Radford's Albert win the race in fast time and fine style, lacking only one fifth of a second of equaling the track record.

That night at the hotel met a number of those fellows that were down here at the T. P. A. banquet. They all complained of Louisville's being quiet after their visit here.

Mayor Head told me he was in quite a quandary whether to accept the nomination for Governor or wait and run for Mayor of Hopkinsville, the honor of the latter office being about a stand-off to the salary of the former.

Graham Vreeland said that the Mayor's bonnet was full of bees when he got back home after his visit here, and wanted to know what we had done to their mayor.

Sam Jones also spoke of moving the Paul Jones Building down here, with his bank in it.

Next day went to Frankfort, and saw the new Capitol. Was shown Mr. Southall's desk in the lower house and found he hadn't made his mark yet, I mean on his desk, and was surprised too, for have been taught all my life that a member never attains prominence until he has cut about half his desk away with a genuine Barlow knife. Nevertheless Herman was some punkins up there and that mahogany desk wasn't marred by a single scratch.

Though the Historical Room hadn't my picture in it anywhere at all, yet was pleased to see all the Governors represented, each wearing a satisfied expression as complacent as if he had once been Mayor of Hopkinsville.

In the law room Joel Hart's statue of Henry Clay was talking out loud—Andy Jackson's, only a few feet away, was good work, but, Lord, who would have thought of putting it that close to Clay's. In the library I was shown the first law ever passed by the Kentucky legislature. It was a bill empowering the Governor to appoint a successor of a dead sheriff. Strange that should have been the first one they needed to pass. It was signed by Isaac Shelby.

In the court of appeals room they had four or five great big wise looking judges sitting in a row trying one little case, being pleaded by one little lawyer. Looked like one would have been enough to have kept that lawyer in line.

The capitol is a very handsome building and really ought to be located here, might have been, had we tried for it. Afternoon Col. Scott, of the board of control showed me through the other feeble-minded institute. He has instituted some new features there in the way of manual training for boys, cooking, sewing and fancy basket weaving for girls. It surprised me how skillful those poor unfortunates were with their fingers. Some really beautiful baskets of finest texture were exhibited.

There is a great future for this new departure in the case of the feeble-minded.

After escaping from this institution by a close call the Colonel showed me his famous Holstein cow. He says she is the finest cow in the state, gave 72½ pounds of milk per day for a whole week of trial, a fraction over 9 gallons per day, or, as the Colonel enthusiastically put it, her week's product weighed more than a Jersey cow. The grounds and buildings of this institution are very pleasing to the eye. The old original oaks on the lawn are worth a visit themselves, and every loyal Kentuckian would derive much satisfaction from a visit to this model charitable institution of the state.
